Steamer after etcamer has errived from New Steamer atter steamer has survived to the York, and we have cought, as through a telescope, clearer and clearer riews of the state of public feeling in the country with which, a few days ago, we thought ourselves on the brink of war. And every frash glimpan has been more reassuring than tha last. It is true that we see American circles and state of the days and of then districted in the than tha last. It is true that we see American opinion reflected only, and often distorted, in the untrastworthy mirror of the new piper pros; hul, at a crivical moment like this, a very bid journal may be a pretty good reflector—all the better indeed for beging no opinions or principles of its ewer and we may believe what we see when nearly the same linage is visible in them all. The news brought by the Hansa, the Anglo-Saxor, and the Europa produced, therefore, a very sensible relief, and was a matter of mutual congratification as it passed from mouth to mouth in Euroden. Who would have thought that they would have taken it so quiotify? Who would have expected such an absence of engry declamation—so general a disposition (these are expected such an absence of the Comunicationers—a course undoubtedly dictac-ptions of course) to acquierce in the currender of the Commissioners—a course undoubtedly dietated by prudercy, not less than by a regard for intercational justice, but still very painful to a people annead to concessiona, and whose chief defect is an Irritable national vanity. It is merely just to the Americane to say, if the mon are really given up, that their conduct in this matter his been such as we have no great reason to condomn. There is no reason to doubt that, when the capture were made, they really persented temselves It was lawful—too essity, i.d ed, as men are apt to do in such care, and co insufficient grands, yet with more show of reason them we is this country here been willing to allow; we ie this country here been willing to allow; and although the mehifest determination of England to enforce her rights has certainly hell a great effect to America, it would be ungenerous to depute the honorable self-conquest which a high spirited nation must make before it yields to a demand which, however conciliatory in form, is 1From the English Churchman.1

We are not much in the hebit of animadvert ing on the licentrations of our contemporaries, especially in regard to secular matters; but the minner in which the Times has treated the question of the civil war in America, from the very beginning, calls for some notice at the hands of those who desire to meintain the character of English jurnalism. Stricks Lemons -We bays had the pleasure of examining some of the finest products of the citrus genus we have ever seen. They were grown in the hot-house of Ilumilton Pops, Esq, in this city, hut are of course indebted to the arbericultural attention of bis lady, and we ull know that the gaddess of fruits yielded to but one lover, and, to secure her affections, Vertumous had to of the garden to full fruition. One of the elenons measures, transversely across the stem, fifteen and a quarter inches, and, over the other side, fonrteen and a half inches. There were eleven of 1bem on the trea, which weighed from four to of seven and a half pounds. A few such prolific trees would be a fortune to a fruit denter, and ferever prevent any short supply among the venders o' sherry cobblers, punches, or lemon sherhet. The golden globes look as if they were the very emblems of the queenly power of Pomona.

THEATRE -Miss Julia Daly appears to night "is three places," but, as Charles Matthews used to say, she will be glued together again after the perfermance. Sha assumes the character of "Kate written by Geo. F. Fuller, Egg., entitled, "Abesuce of Mind," in which Miss Dely performs a Ynnkee character and singe a Yankee song. Then follows "The Fool of the Family," in which ska will sing, with Mr. Duffield, the duett, "Where a Little Farm we Keep," and "The Sailor Boy;" and "The Obstinute Family" completes the bill.

The legislation of that period on the subject of internal improvements is full of good reading to those who can be amused at the efforts to make our rivers navigabla by persons who corned the lighte of reience. The general idea was to make brush dums at the head of the latands, plough a way through the hars, and cut down some overhanging lreas. All this was done in one season, at the cost of three or four thrusand dellars, but the winter floods filled up the excavation, washed away the dams, and left the river in statu quo. Yet it was a beginning, and pavid the way for the locks and dams and steamboat navigation that we now at i.v.

At this session William Loran was elected Speater in Congress over Cel. R. M. Johnson-Mr. Legan receiving eixty seven votes, and Colonel Johnson tifty five, on joint ballot.

The lost annual message of Gov. Slaughter bears date December 7th, 1819. As in the previous messages, so he does also in the last, urging again the great came of peoplar elucation, still heping for reformation of convicts; more dacided than ever in his opposition to the Bank of the United States, considering it as necessarily an enemy to republican institutions, and scellag the chadow of ovil times to come, he gently und tenderly alludes to them. Has aw that the content had ween debtor and creditor was meaved able. He sage, alluding to the withdrawal of specific products a series of the withdrawal of specific products. thet halween debtor and creditor was meavoidable. He saye, alluding to the withdrawal of specie, and a fall in the value of property, "that the social sympathies are thereby chilled, avarice is a bridled, and distrust supplies the place of condence. cordial co-operation."
At that re-sion the question of the admission of Missouri came up, and the action of the Legicla'ure was determined and bold in demanding her unrestricted admissiou, and so instructed our members in Congress.

At this session, also, Colonel R. M. Johnson was elected Sorator in the room of Mr. Ceittenden, who had resigned. General Adair was his opponent, and the vote stood for Johnson 68, for Adair 53.

The first join fired in the Relief war was the passage, by the legislature, of "an act to suspend sales and reactions and decrees of court for sales and a sequina and decrees of court for sir'y days." The provisions of this act can be seen by reference to the laws. Upon this bill Governor Slaughter placed his veto, but his veto were oversuled in both Houses.

The next step in the direction of relief was upon a bill introduced by Mr. Bladsoe, anherquently known as the "Endorsement and Replayin Law." The substance of this law. Law." Upon such an indersented being made the defindent might replevy the daht for a year, giving deditional security, but if not replaying the property was to be sold on twelve months' credi with many other important provisions. Upor this law, and others of a kindred character, was founded the relief and and relief controversy, in-volving contrary judicial decisions, until the decision of the Court of Appsals adverse to the relief party, out of which decisions areas the great struggle known as the Old Court and New Court unsion. It is peculiarly unconfortable at this moment to find American citizens leaving their country a prey to faction and civil war, disturbing the Court of a friendly power and embarrazing our representative there with questions of personal intersal and pretention.

Let the Emperor and Empress of France, re-ceive when they will, and as many or few as they will, and let all others as well as those who are admitted, turn their attention to the question how they can serve their country abroad, and if they find no better way to do it than by meking heir attendance in the saloons of the Tulifrice, at them return home, to no unitry that now, for he first time, and not for a long time, needs the save itself from destinction.

Finally, above all things, have no question with the Government of France on this subject.

what they seem to mo to merit. In this mission I have fallen heir, as you doubtless know, to an inheritance of social trouble and vexation not agreeing out of my business daties, but out of such as are connected with presentations to the Court, and such like matters.

The great numbers of our countrymen who visit Paris, the facilities which have been given by my predicessors for an introduction at the Palace, and the great liberality of the Court itself in admitting euch introductions, have brought about a state of things under which I enpowe the fibers of occamony at the Palace have not unnaturally become restive. For instance, in locking back for a few years past, I find that in 1857, at one presentation only, eighly-four Americana were introduced, at the two presentations in 1858 there were introduced forty-seven at one and lifty-seven at Rather introduce nebody, however justly distinguished than let a question of fushion or coremony appear in the records of the important period in which we nice ecting for the highest interests of our country and of humanity.

The hill to raise troops to mast the requisition on the State of Virginia by the President of the Confederate States, passed both branches of the Virginia General Assembly on Monday in secret session. The hill provides that all companies now in the field shall be filled up to the number of 160 men; that the tovernor shall call for volonteers for this purpose, and that if the requisite number be not thus enlisted the deficiency in to made up by draft, from the enrolled mijill.

The injunction of secrecy has been removed say toe precisa number, but one of my predicessor's despatches says that at one presentation he introduced thirty-tive and it another "a large number." How to any I know not. These presentations, you ere aware, are on the night of the court-ball, and all who are presented are, of course, invited to the hall. In addition, there is an average of perhaps hit other Americans. an average of perhaps billy other Americans, resident in Paris, who have been presented by past years. The War Department has issued an order for the selzure of all corn in the hands of distillers or others to be used for the purpose of distillation. This step is taken not only on account of the per-nicious effects of the unlimited manufacture of whisky, but also because of the exorbitant prices the government is obliged to pay for an article in-dispensable to the subsistence of the army.

An official despatch from Lieut. Phelps, compairing hore, confirms the previous renorts of the result of the Tennessee river expedition. The steamers burned by the rebels were laden with military stores, two hundred stand of arms, and a considerable quantity of clothing.
Other stores were captured, and Col. Crew's ancampment at Savannah dastroyed. Lient. Phetps also reports finding the Union sentiment very been asked for was universally practised, and that it ought in fact to be so to the end, that they might know who it was who was presented to the Soversign. The result was that the list, not being amended, the tickets were not sent, and no "Americans were presented."

THE AFFAIR OVER THE POTOMAC ON FRIDAY. The Washington Star of Saturday gives the following account of the brilliant little affalr south

Prance and Excland in Menico — We copy the following from the New York Times of Saturday last:

It is with feelings far from lodifferent that the progress of European intervention in Menico is watched by the people of the United States. The avowed purpose of two out of the three nations engaged in the husicess was to refute the Moores dectrine, by extending to the New World the idea of a balance of power, and placing some barrier to that march of menicest destiny, which would otherwise be resumed by an elastic and realless people at the close of our civil war. To Europeanize Moxico, to write its laws in Paris and London, and surround it with a military force strong enough to resist the encreachments of dillbusterium, and that form of colerization which wrested Texas from New Sprin—these were the objects which lay immediately behind the pretence of debts uppad, and European residences endangered. Further back there was reason to apprehend the existence of other motives still more neerly concerning the welfare of this centery. The right to interfers in the internal affalis of Mexico at the moment when faction had for the fit in the life of a generation been quieted, implied to the visit of the use of Yankes wounded in the hilp and disabled, though the wound is not mortally wounded number over 1,000. The other cascalities are unimportant.

A late arrival this morning says Elizabeth City has been shelled and burned by the Yankes wounded is about the same, Mild shimms and burned by the Yankes wounded is about the same, Mild shimms and burned by the Yankes wounded is about the same, Mild shimms and burned by the Yankes wounded is about the same, Mild shimms and burned by the Yankes wounded is about the same had been captured. It is not regar affalis of Mexico at the moment when faction had for the first time in the life of a generation been quieted, implies, with stronger reason, a right to interfere in the United States, where the presence of a war, which Europe has resolved to regard on endouse, malignant, berbarous, apparently robs France and England of industrial prosperity, and threatens the former with the hezards of revolution. Nor hee such apprehension been rimply a matter of inference. It has been more than hinted that the demonstration against Mexico was really directed against the country. The deproportioned requadron, and armament apparently in excess of any occasion Mexico was likely to give for their envolvement, have heen regarded, not only in the United States but in Europe, at the apparently force and the enemy. ently in excess of any occession Mexico was likely to give for their emulcyment, have been regarded, not only in the United Sintas but in Europe, as the applicant of proparations otherwise partially completed by the large body of British troops thrown into Ganeda; by the powerful reinfercemente added to the equadron of Admiral Milne, and by the numerous French ment of war hanning at this moment the waters of America. The friends of the American cause in Europe have repeatedly warned no of the danger to be found in this quarter. We have been bidden to watch the Mexicun campaign with more than the jealousy that us remeter reference to our furure might seem to anthorize. And had the task undertaken by the alife been as triding as they reckored it; had they landed at Vera Cruz to be hailed by the great body of the Mexican people as deliverer, and to march, as at a triumph, to the outilat, there to prescribe laws, erect a Government, and from the pinnacle of success proceed to the naxt act of the preconcerted drams, it is quite possible that intervention in the United States would have followed hard upon the heads as deliverent, and to inarch, as at a triumph, to the capital, there to prescribe laws, erect a Gov-ernment, and from the pinnecle of success proceed to the next act of the preconcerted drams, it is quite possible that intervention in the United States would have followed hard upon the heels states would have followed hard upon the heels of intervention in Maxics.

But hippily the take or rashly undertaken proves to be ne haliday businese. The first eteps ventured beyond the walls of Vera Cruz by a Spanish ermy fisch from victorias in Morocce, have been attended by defeat. The Mexicans are found to be of one mind in reslating the invalin. They hold the passes to the injector in numbers so overwhelming as to render it a question attended with earling as to render it a question attended with earling as to render it a question attended with earling as to render the victorious achievement of Gen. Scott can avore be repeated by these European imitators. standard our own mexican cut print. The popular end clerical parties divided the State, and each was ready to compound with any power which would leave it the passesion of office. The capitel was througed with speculators, whose business it was to sell out the Government time and again to the beat kidler. The commander of the army was an object of distrust and intense aversion to a mejority of the people, who, hideed, believed quite generally thet he had been brinded to betray the national cause. Little carnest resistance was, therefore, opposed to the march of elther Taylor or Sott. To resist them, there was no such apprint of maisse, as we witness to day. No one dreamed that the national independence was endangered. And how different was the centiment then from what it is now we many more completely realize when we remember. FORTRESS MONROE, Feb. 11.

The more completely realize when we remember with what aarnestness Gen. Scott was implored, by the principal statesmen of Mexico, the war being over, to remela with his army for some years, if not permanently in the Republic, as a guarantor of peace, order, and sound government.

HOUSE.
Mr. Maynard quoted from other parks of Mr. Segar's epeech, showing the latter's lovalty and eminent service in the Union came and his personal sacrifices. But for his conduct, as alleged in recession quarters, Fortness Monroe would have fallen into the possession of the South.

Mr Crittenden argued the pending cause as a question of Law, in favor of Mr. Segar

The House then, by a vote of 85 to 40, decided that Mr. Segar was not entitled to a seat.

The House agreed to the Senate amendment to the bill authorizing the construction of twenty iron clad gnuboats. Adjourned.

SENATE.

The Vice President appointed Mr. Cowan on the Finence Committee in place of Mr. Bright, expelled, Mr. Henderson on the Posteffice Committee, in place of Mr. Bright, and Mr. Wilson, of Missouri, on the Committee on ludian Affairs, in place of Mr. Cowan. On motion of Mr. Fessenden the fortification bill was taken up.

Mr. Fessenden the forthcatten bill was taken up.

Mr. Fessenden said he should call up 1be Treas nry note bill to-morrow and press it to a speedy passage.

The amendment of the committee to the forth The amendment of the committee to the forti-

Mr. Trumbull thought it would be time enough to protect those harbors when there was danger of war with any great maritime power. Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof. olent for the day is the evil thereof.

Mr. Doolittle was in favor of making the appropriation larger, and giving the President power to protect the harbers on the Pacific coast, and the harbers on the Western lakes. He did not believe there was danger of war with any maritime power. He referred to the speech of the French Emperor as an evidence of peace. Mr. Dixon was in favor of the amendment, but did not like its phraseology, suggesting that there might be war with any maritime power. Ho might be war with any maritime power. Ho would strike out the clause reading "imminant danger with any maritime power," so as to leave the matter subject to the President. The amendment was so modified, and adopted.

After further discussion, Mr. Trumbull moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Military Affairs. If the armies of the Union will move forward and crush the rebuilting was shell.
